Social Distancing Protocol

Building Access

The building main entrance at 730 Harrison St is closed in line with San Francisco's shelter-in-place order.

Employees of the Seafarers' Medical Center will continue to use the Suite 100 entrance, which is separate from the main building entrance. Any employee who is feeling ill with a fever or cough is prohibited from entrance to the Medical Center and should remain at home and inform the Administrator of their illness.

Medical Center Patients are not allowed entrance to the main building. Patients who enter the Medical Center must be given personal protective equipment (PPE), such as a mask and gloves, and/or be asked to sanitize their hands.

Employee and Medical Center Patient Health Protection

As essential services providers, we must carry out our duties. However, to protect employee health, we are rotating Medical Center staff when necessary.

Employees have been advised if they are ill to remain at home until well.

Employees and Medical Center Patients who come to the office must maintain social distancing keeping six feet away from fellow employees.

Medical Center Patients are to be given the appropriate COVID-19 Screening Questionnaire in accordance with their shipping company.

Common areas, such as the Clinic waiting room, lunch room, lab and copier station, must be kept clean and frequently disinfected. Disinfectant wipes, hand sanitizer and PPE are available throughout the Clinic. Wash hands frequently throughout the day for a minimum of 20 seconds.
